Home for Christmas — Week 3 — Everlasting Father

It is quite funny to watch young children just before they attempt to jump off of something for the first time. Whether the object is the side of a pool or a couch, almost all children are scared. However, if you put the arms of the child's father in front of them that look of fear will almost always change into a look of excitement and anticipation. How would your hopes, dreams and plans change if you knew that there was someone to catch you?

1. What would you be willing to do if you knew God was with you?
2. When Joseph was younger he thought that his dreams were about him instead of God. Why do we all too often think that our dreams are about us?
3. What do you do when everything in your life seems to be falling apart?
4. Why do we feel that we should be rewarded when we do what is right?
5. What would you do if, like Joseph, you went through 13 years of hardships, prison, family trouble, false accusations and being forgotten?
6. Why do we develop our own plans and ask for God's approval rather than seeking His plan first?

The same everlasting Father who saw Joseph through the darkest days of his life still has his arms extended today. His arms are everlasting and eternal, full of might and strength and always open. Do you want to go through life scared or do you want to go through life with eager anticipation of the great and mighty things that God wants to do through you? Will you jump?
